A: The line that you are seeing is actually part of the copyright/license for the document. This text is in Portuguese, but if you look closely you'll see that some text is in English and some is in Portuguese. Click on the image to make the text more readable: That text says that First published on 5/18/2010 under the GNU Free Documentation License 1.2 or later (imagine the parentheses and the quotes) So in other words, the copyright is specified in the license of the document. The license requires that it be released under a particular license which in this case is the GNU Free Documentation License. The license is cited in this line: Lisboa: Editora Colibri, 2011. You don't see the license cited because the document is in portuguese. From the GNU Free Documentation License As free documentation, it is licensed under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License version 1.2 or any later version published by the Free Documentation Center. This license gives you the right to copy, modify and distribute this manual. It also helps us developers to produce it.. If you want to read the license, click on the chapter title, "The GNU Free Documentation License".
