by Relic Entertainment and released on March 16, 2015 by Sega. It is a free-to-play and a stand-alone expansion of the Company of Heroes video game series, Â developed by Relic Entertainment. Set in the Russian Front during the Second World War, the campaign features a multiplayer mode, as well as new base building, capture and defense mechanics, vehicles, ground combat, and Panzer Elite Regiment, Â an elite German tank destroyer force. The game includes two new campaigns, as well as additional single player missions, with more than 1,000 new scenarios, units and areas of operation, We appreciate your contribution to the community. To the right of the Hosts menu is the Steering Wheel icon, which you can click to pull up controls for the host. The problem is two-fold. First, there's a bug in the way the mod works: if you assign the control button it allows you to play back the current selection of the stick map. Which you can't really do because the maps are saved and reopened, and with the mod you loose those capabilities. Meaning you can only play a map with the control button you assigned the control of. Second, it's a bit heavy on the controls, especially if you want to play on PC. One thing I hated was that the host could not change the map when in the second map and it was not a map hosted by the person playing. There's no reason why it had to be like this. All they did was assign a button to the "select map" function instead of map for "select map" and
